Overview

The City of Alexandria is located in Northern Virginia bordered by the District of Columbia (Potomac River), Arlington, and Fairfax counties. Once within the original boundary stones that demarked the area of the Nation's Capital, Alexandria is a part of the greater Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. With a population of approximately 159,467 Alexandria is the sixth largest city in the Commonwealth of Virginia. Unique and historic, Alexandria is a place that is experiencing substantial redevelopment appeal and business growth opportunities as a result of a high market demand for urban living in a quality environment. About one-quarter of the City's 15.47 square miles has been designated as a national or local historic district. Thousands of the buildings utilized as homes, businesses and museums are considered monuments to the past.

The City is an active participant in regional agencies such as the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments, the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA), the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission (NVTC), the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority (NVTA), the Northern Virginia Regional Commission (NVRC), and the Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority (NVRPA).

History

During its long history, Alexandria was a tobacco trading post, one of the ten busiest ports in America, a part of the District of Columbia, home to both the largest slave-trading firm in the country and a large free-black community, a Civil War supply center for Union troops, and a street-car suburb for Federal workers. Alexandria was also the hometown of George Washington, Robert E. Lee, Jim Morrison and Mama Cass. Notable Alexandria landmarks include Murray-Dick-Fawcett House, Contrabands and Freedmen Cemetery Memorial, the African American Heritage Park, Carlyle House, the Lee-Fendall House, and the Torpedo Factory. The City’s weekly Farmer’s Market has been meeting continuously on Market Square since the town’s founding and is considered the nation’s oldest farmer’s market (pictured right).

promotion of these links to the past. The Office of Historic Alexandria has received accreditation by the American Alliance of Museums and is a member of the International Coalition of Sites of Conscience.

Governance

The City of Alexandria is an independent city with no county affiliation, and derives its governing authority from a Charter granted by the Virginia General Assembly. Virginia is a Dillon Rule state, allowing local governments only the authority expressly granted to them by the Virginia Constitution or by the Virginia General Assembly in the City Charter or in general law.

City Council is the governing body, which formulates policies for the administration of the City. The Mayor is chosen on a separate ballot and presides over sessions of the Council.

The Alexandria City Council operates under the Virginia Freedom of Information Act, which prohibits closed sessions of the Council except for specific matters regarding personnel, pending litigation and land acquisition. Accordingly, nearly all sessions of the City Council are open to the public, where citizens actively participate in public hearing discussions.

The City Council appoints the City Manager who serves as the City’s Chief Executive Officer responsible for implementing the policies established by City Council.

Civic engagement is highly valued by residents and the City government. The City has 74 internal boards and commissions composed of citizen appointments made by Council. Appointees also serve on regional boards and commissions all which can advise City Council on major issues.

Economic Impact

Each fall, the Commonwealth of Virginia releases data for all municipalities measuring the economic impact of the tourism sector in the prior calendar year. In 2021, the Commonwealth expanded its analysis to include a future forecast due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The graph to the right demonstrates the impact of the pandemic, the upward trajectory of Alexandria's performance since 2020, and the forecast for recovery.*

Public Safety

Alexandria maintains a modern, highly trained police department, with a current authorized strength of 322 sworn officers and nearly 114 civilian employees. The Alexandria Police Department has been internationally accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) since 1986. CALEA accreditation is a rigorous and difficult process that, if achieved, affirms the professional status of law enforcement agencies worldwide.

The Alexandria Sheriff's Office is accredited by the American Correctional Association (ACA) since 1989 and the National Commission on Correctional Health Care (NCCHC) since 1991.

The Alexandria Fire Department employs approximately 315 uniformed personnel plus 33 civilian personnel. A network of ten stations protects the City. Among the department's specialized teams are the Northern Virginia Regional Hazardous Materials Team, Technical Rescue, Marine Operations and the Special Operations Team.

Alexandria also has a volunteer organization, the Alexandria Volunteer Fire Department (AVFD). The AVFD has served the citizens of the City for more than two hundred years, with President George Washington as one of its earliest members. AVFD members provide assistance in the areas of firefighting, emergency medical services, communications, canteen and administration.

The Department of Emergency & Customer Communications (DECC) ensures the effective delivery of routine and emergency calls to the City of Alexandria public safety departments. DECC implemented a non-emergency multi-option Alex311 call and contact system in February 2020 to better service Alexandria residents.

Transportation

The City of Alexandria has over 49 miles of on-street and off-street bike lanes, sharrows, and trails. Using a bike quickly, safely, and enjoyably to get around has never been easier. The City’s expansion of the Capital Bikeshare program and installation and designation of new bike lanes and routes are just a few of the initiatives that make the City of Alexandria a nationally recognized Bike Friendly Community with a silver rating from The League of American Bicyclists.

Alexandria’s Complete Streets Policy of 2011 was reenacted in 2014, recognizing that the users of our transportation system include pedestrians, bicyclists, riders and drivers of public transportation, in addition to motor vehicles. In the spring of 2017, city staff embarked on the Vision Zero process to build an action plan with the goal of eliminating all traffic related deaths and serious injuries.

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) operates Metrorail, which has 118 miles of rail lines (6.1 miles in Alexandria) and 91 stations throughout Virginia, DC and Maryland. Four stations along the yellow and blue lines are located in the City: Braddock Road, King Street, Eisenhower Avenue, and Van Dorn Street. WMATA also operates Metrobus with bus stops and routes throughout the City and the newly opened Metroway uses dedicated lanes along Route 1 corridor between Pentagon City and Braddock Road Metrorail stations.

The Alexandria Transit Company’s (ATC) DASH bus system provides bus service within the City of Alexandria and connects with other local bus systems, Metrorail, and Virginia Railway Express (VRE). DASH fleet consists of eco-friendly Hybrid Electric low floor buses and Clean Diesel. In all, 100 buses on 11 routes served approximately 2.8 million passengers in fiscal year 2020. DASH operates the King Street Trolley, which is free to all riders, between the King Street Metrorail Station and Waterfront Park.
